AUTOGUIDE BOARDS FOR WESTERLY

Must be Maintained in Compliance with New Law—Stabbing Affray—Pawcatuck High School to be Discontinued—Ex-Governor Higgins Delivers Eloquent Lecture on Emmet—Court News—Prohibitionist Caucus

Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple of Westerly in common with the other town clerks of the state, has received the communication from the motor league of Rhode Island calling attention to the amendment to the automobile law which provides that the matter of placing guide boards at the highway corners in all the towns should be placed on the docket, to be taken up in the order of business at the first council meeting held after Oct. 1. Towns failing to provide and maintain guide boards at the points stipulated in the law are liable to a fine of $5 for every month they shall neglect or refuse to carry out the letter of the law.

These guide boards were furnished and located by the town of Westerly about a year ago, but an examination will be made to ascertain if all are in place at the present time, as the intention is a strict compliance with the law.

Baseball is at fever heat in Westerly and the largest crowd will be at the Quonset grounds next Saturday when there will be two games with Stonington in the pennant race. There are three more playing Saturdays before the season of the Connecticut-Rhode Island league season ends, and Westerly has four games to play. To the sure pennant-winner Westerly must take three of the games. If there is an even split with Stonington Saturday, there is almost a certainty that Westerly will win the pennant.

With only one game behind Westerly, Stonington will make a strong fight to win both games from Westerly next Saturday, and to do this, it is said that the Stonington management is negotiating for the entire Newport team to represent Stonington in the coming games. This is perfectly legitimate under the league rules, and it is said that Westerly, too, is liable to do something in the strengthening line.

The Newport team is one of the best independent teams in the league, and has won in contests with teams of the Eastern league.

Stonington besides the two games with White Rock, and this team has won several from Stonington and is now only two games behind for second place in the league standing. White Rock will have a double header next Saturday with Wakefield and expects to win both, and this is done at an even split with Westerly and Stonington. White Rock and Stonington will be tied for second place.

For as long as the league championship, Norwich, Wakefield and Carolina are out of the running, and all interest is centered on the three leaders.

There was a stabbing affray in Oak street late Sunday night. Mariano Cirio and Vincenzo Pingatore, the parties to the affair, with the latter as the knife wielder. Both had been drinking with a party of fellow countrymen and it is alleged that Cirio started the trouble by declaring that he could whip Pingatore and his three brothers, and in order to bring the matter to a head, Cirio took a jackknife from his pocket and stabbed Cirio in the chest. The wound is not serious.

Cirio was assisted to his home in Cedar street, and Pingatore immediately disappeared.

Mary, widow of Patrick Hammel, was suddenly stricken with paralysis Sunday, and her recovery is considered doubtful. She is now in the home of B. Collins and quite well-known in Westerly and has relatives in New London. Mrs. Hammel is seventy-five years of age and has been in feeble health for a long time. Late Monday afternoon she was still unconscious and in the opinion of the attending physician the end was near.

Edward H. Lattimore died at the home of his son-in-law, William Bennett in Mechanic street Monday morning after a long sickness. He was 70 years of age and is survived by a son William and Mrs. Bennett. He enlisted from Putnam in F. company, Eleventh Connecticut infantry, Nov. 13, 1861, and re-enlisted as a veteran Dec. 17, 1862. He was honorably discharged and mustered out of the service Dec. 13, 1865. Mr. Lattimore was a member of Budlong post, G. A. R., and comrades will act as bearers.

Patrick Flaherty, a white from the south, and Frederick Sebastian, a northern black man, under the influence of the town which intoxicated, met in front of the Dixon house late Sunday night and there was a bandy-bandy of words and blows. The fight was ended by a brief discussion of the race question, and Sebastian was struck in the jaw and went down and out beyond the count limit. Both were arrested.

In the Third district court Monday both were arraigned on the charge of drunkenness, and they pleaded guilty. Sebastian was fined $2 and costs of $2, and Flaherty was penalized $2 and costs of $2.

Selectman Henry A. Stahl of Pawcatuck presided at the annual meeting of the town of Stonington held in Borough hall, Monday morning, and Town Clerk Elias B. Hinkley of the borough acted as clerk. Printed copies of the report of the selectmen had been previously distributed and the report was accepted without discussion. The reports of the school visitors, the health officer, the tax collector and auditors were also approved.

The sum of $27,816 was appropriated for schools. To keep the highways, bridges and private ways in repair the sum of $7,000 was appropriated. The report of the selectmen on the

THE CORPORATION TAX LAW.

Commissioner Cabell Preparing for Its Execution.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Newly inducted into office, Commissioner Cabell of the internal revenue bureau is now engaged in the heavy task of providing for the execution of the corporation tax law. He is in daily consultation with his deputies and law officers of the government departments regarding the preparation of the blank forms which must be sent to the various internal revenue collectors and by them placed in the hands of the corporation officers within their respective districts.

Before the blanks are issued they will also be submitted to the secretary of the treasury and attorney general, and the substance perhaps will be communicated to the president. These precautionary measures are necessary in order to render the forms "lawyer proof" because it is quite certain that the new law will never be put into operation without undergoing fierce onslaughts in the courts at the hands of the ablest attorneys in the land.

Crab Salad.

Crab salad is very good made in this way: Pick all the meat from the shell of one or two crabs, and shred it finely. Wash and dry a large lettuce and a bunch of watercress. Put into a bowl two tablespoons of best salad oil, pepper and salt to taste, and lastly a dessertspoonful of vinegar. Mix this with two forks, stir the salad, which must be carefully dried, and lastly the crab meat, mixing it thoroughly. Place in a salad bowl, garnished prettily with sliced hard-boiled eggs and cucumber. Keep the salad in a cool place until served.

Collingville.—Alfred Castagnary, who has been employed in the forging department of the Collins company for over thirty years, has secured employment in the shop of the Pope Manufacturing company of Hartford and will move his family at once to that city, where he has purchased a house on Vernon street.

Unselfish Mr. Edison.

In speaking of the United States, Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, says: "Peach of a country, isn't it? You bet it is and the man who doesn't think it ought to be kicked out." Uncle Thomas has never been set down as a jingo, but rather as a quiet, work-a-day citizen, so his remarks upon this occasion bear considerable weight. He was speaking of the polar expeditions at the time, but his remarks eventually took in the whole sweep of American achievement, excepting his own, which, by the way, outranks that of nearly every other man of the republic. Edison never discarded the pole, but he has discarded many things a thousand times more valuable.

Edison lauds the airplane inventors, the dirigible balloon and wireless telegraph and telephone inventors, the polar explorers, the sociological workers and the herald of his native country, but doesn't speak a word about himself. He says those things that have been accomplished in science are the merest trifles when compared to the things that will be accomplished in the near future, and those who read the great inventor's remarks regret that they may not live to see some of the great things that he predicts.

Edison lives the simple life, devoting a large portion of each day to hard work with the young men who are being quietly trained to take his place and improve upon his wonderful as well as to produce new ones. But the world will never forget Edison, even in the remarkable times which he predicts, for Edison is truly great.—Waterbury Republican.
